To be Held Monthly.
Something new in the social line has been planned by the various young people's societies in Kingston and the social committee of the local Y. M. C. A., and as a result of the plans talked over the first of a series of socials for all young folks of the city will be held Wednesday evening, February 28, at the Y. M. C. A. under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Societies of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church and the First Presbyterian Church and the social committee of the association.

tion. A fine program has been arranged for the occasion and all young people are urged to bear this date in mind and attend.

Sunday afternoon Master Joseph Hardy Hughes entertained a number of his little friends at his home 235 Hasbrouck avenue, in honor of his first birthday. The dining room was prettily decorated with smilax and ferns. The centerpiece of the table was a beautiful birthday cake with one lighted candle.

During the supper that followed,
Master Michael Sours acted as toastmaster, assisted by Master Jacob Albert Vedder. Many games were played and the young folks present ed Master Hughes with many presen ents. The event was a most enjoya able one and will be long rememb ered by those present, who depart ed wishing the host many happy re turns of the day.

On Saturday evening Assistant

Superintendent Timothy O'Neil of the Prudential Insurance Company and Mrs. O'Neil, were surprised by a number of friends who gathered at their residence on the Boulevard in honor of Mrs. O'Neil's birthday. The evening was delightfully spent in singing and dancing and refreshments were served. Mrs. O'Neil was the recipient of many gifts among them being an immense cake which was lighted with tiny candles during the evening. The members of the party were Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fiske and Mr. and Mrs. J. Trolltz, Mr. and Mrs. J. Eischen, Mrs. M. M.

Johnston-Carnright.
Fred Johnston of Hurley and Miss Hilaria Carnright of 198 Hurley avenue, Kingston, were quietly married by the Rev. P. N. Chase, Ph.D.

at his residence, 15 Green street this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston left for Shandaken on the afternoon train where Mr. Johnston is employed and where a newly furnished home awaits them.

The Coterie met on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Thompson. Miss Fuller had the first paper of the afternoon, "Spanish Philippines vs. American Philippines." Miss Fuller presented an excellent map of the Philippines, showing their strategic position, surrounded by the Pacific Ocean, the China Sea and the Straits of Borneo. Beginning with the first settlement in 1521, when it was known that the people were possessed of a rude form of agriculture and architecture, Miss Fuller further told of the the invasion of the Friars, who in the beginning held and strove for the highest ideals. They considered the good of the natives to be of first importance and strove to provide that good. Then little by little, the ideals were lost sight of, until the ruling Friars found the wealth of the islands

Frars round the wealth of the islands of first importance, and the people were downtrodden and tyrannized over in order that the wealth might flow into the coffers of the ruling body. The cities and the people of this time were described and then considerable time was devoted to the visitation of Admiral Dewey to the islands, their coming under American rule, and the efforts which have since been made by this country to learn whether or not the Filipinos are yet ready for self government. The paper was so informing and illuminating that all regretted when it was brought to a close. It was followed by a reading from "The Social Cancer," given by Mrs. Ellis, who told the entire story briefly, showing it to deal entirely with the Filipino life. It was compared, in its bearing upon the subject dealt with, to Uncle Tom's Cabin and its relation to slavery. While the book contains much that is horrible—of necessity—still it has created all over the world a deep sympathy for and interest in the entire Philippine question. Following a very pleasant

FRENCH STEAMER SINKS SUBMARINE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 19.—Destruction of a German submarine in an engagement lasting forty minutes was reported by the French steamer Guyane on her arrival here today.

The Guyane left Bordeaux on January 21, and the next day a German submarine was sighted off the port side about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The submarine endeavored to cross the Guyane's bow, but Captain Rousselot began a turning movement to the starboard and brought his stern gun to bear on the submarine. The submarine in the meantime had fired three shots at the Guyane, all of which fell short.

Two shots from the 6.5 millimeter gun on the Guyane's stern struck the submarine squarely, and she was seen to slowly settle. She had entirely disappeared within 30 minutes.

Captain Rousselot said not a man appeared on the submarine's deck.

A resolution was introduced in the French Chamber of Deputies last week providing that 500,000 francs (about $100,000) shall be paid the captain of any Allied or neutral merchant vessel who succeeds in sinking a German submarine.

ONE DAY OFF FOR COMPANY M MEN

First Detachment to be Given Passes Under New Rule Arrived in City at Noon—Required to Take Bath on Holiday.

Nine men of Company M were in Kingston for a few hours today, these being the first detail to enjoy the order given Sunday permitting each man twelve hours off guard once a week. It is not a leave of absence but passes are issued and the men can come to Kingston on the 11:05 a. m. train, remaining until the 8:35 train in the evening. The order requires that each man take a bath while at home, as bathing facilities are lacking at the Ireland Corners station.

On an average about ten men of the company will be sent home daily as a result of the new rule which is believed to have been secured by Captain Meagher from Major General O'Ryan during his visit here Sunday. The men were pleased at the prospect as the one day off in seven appeals strongly to them.

STOCKS ARE IN BRISK DEMAND

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 19.—The new week started in with a brisk demand for stocks, and nearly all the important issues made gains ranging from fractions to over a point in the first fifteen minutes. A good deal of interest was attached to the trading in the shipping shares, with Marine Preferred advancing 1 1/2 to 73 and Atlantic Gulf and West Indies 1 1/2 to 98 1/2. National Enameling was the strongest of the low priced issues, advancing 1 1/2 to 34 1/2. Utah Copper rose 1/2 to 110 1/2 and Anaconda 1 1/2 to 77 1/2. Mexican Petroleum rose 1 1/2 to 88 1/2. There was a continued demand for Steel common, which rose 1/2 to 107 1/2. The railway issues generally were strong, with Southern Pacific advancing 1/2 to 94 and New Haven a point to 93 1/2. Reading rose 1/2 to 92 1/2. Republic Iron and Steel rose 1/2 to 79 1/2. Corn Products 1/2 to 92 1/2. and small fractional gains were made in many other less important issues.

Teacher Obligated to Rest.

Miss Frances Youker, of the Marlborough High School faculty, was obliged to return last week to her home in Livingston Manor, to have a complete rest for at least a week. The pupils of the academic department feel that perhaps her illness could have been avoided if she had not lent herself so willingly to their needs for help before the recent examinations when for weeks she remained after the regular school hours and gave them her time at noons, mornings and even on Saturdays. In this way many were able to pass the examinations in subjects this January instead of next June.

Patents Granted M. Leighton.

President R. E. Leighton, of the Chamber of Commerce, received word Saturday that he had been granted a patent upon certain improvements in lock crushers for crushing stone and other road material. The Universal Road Machinery Company has for years enjoyed a reputation for its products in this line and the improved process now protected by patents will undoubtedly place this Kingston industry in the front rank of road machine manufacturers.

YARROWDALE MEN STILL PRISONERS?

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The 72 Americans held prisoners in Germany after their capture on the British steamer Yarrowdale, are still held, according to all information in the possession of the state department. Secretary Lansing admitted today. This in spite of the fact that this government's renewed demand for their release has been forwarded to Berlin. The dispatch of this demand was not confirmed until today.

The secretary said that a message had reached the department through Spain that the captives "would be released shortly," but this promise has been made before and the department does not feel that there has been any marked improvement in the situation arising over their prolonged detention.

Reports that Germany has served notice on this government that the arming of American ships entering the barred zone about Entente countries would be considered a hostile act were denied at the department. According to press dispatches the warning was served on President Wilson last week.

The fate of the 1,000 American refugees in Turkey remains a matter of doubt and will until President Wilson, who now has this entire situation before him for decision, determines upon a course to be pursued. The Turkish government has agreed to their departure and at Alexandria, Egypt, are the cruiser Caesar waiting orders to proceed to Beirut and rescue them. The navy department, however, refuses to send such orders until there is removed all possibility of complications. What action the president intends to take has not been indicated in any way.

The Austrian situation remains unchanged. No steps have been taken looking to the reception of the ambassador designate, Count Tarnow, by the president, and there is a growing belief in diplomatic circles that Austria may not wait for this government's permission for Tarnow to present his credentials, but may recall him on the ground that he is the direct representative of his sovereign and as such should not be subjected to the existing delay in assuming his duty.

AEROPLANE FLEET SEEKS SUBMARINE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 19.—Fleets of aeroplanes are being used by the English Admiralty in the search for German submarines in the barred zone waters around the British Isles. It was declared here today by persons who have just arrived from Europe.

These air machines are equipped with wireless so that they can keep in communication with the flotillas of destroyers that are constantly combing the seas. Also, the aviators carry bombs so that they can attack any hostile submarine that might be sighted.

Up to noon today the Germans had sunk 121 ships in their ruthless U-boat war which began February 1, three having been reported destroyed on Sunday. These 121 ships had an aggregate tonnage of 245,437. Seventy-eight of them were British, 36 including two Americans, were neutral, and the rest belonged in neutral countries other than England.

Burglars Start $125,000 Fire.

Lowville, Ohio, Feb. 19.—Fire started by safe crackers who blew the safe of the A. G. Harg Jewelry store and escaped with $1,000 in cash, swept an entire city block here early today in which were churches, a dozen business houses and eight residences. The loss is estimated at $125,000. Dynamite used to break the flames.

Going to the Banquet.

David Gill Jr. and friends from Brooklyn, including Clarence C. Swift, will attend the banquet of the Ulster County Society at the Manhattan in New York city tonight. One of the members of the society, Dr. James Macfarlane Winfield, of Brooklyn, was a classmate of Mr. Gill forty years ago at the Star School, then located on Green street in this city.

Interested in School Doctor.

At the council of the Federated Parent-Teachers Association of this city held last week at the high school, a committee was appointed to prepare and present to the board of education resolutions relative to the matter of medical inspection of our schools. The committee chosen to have charge of these resolutions was made up as follows: Mrs. A. Ray Fowler, Mrs. Frank Thompson and Mrs. Frank L. Meagher.

POLICE RAIDED MOVIE THEATERS

Sergeants Hanley and Phinney Descend on Star and Lyric Saturday—Proprietors Fined $20 and Sentence Suspended.

Sergeant Hanley and Sergeant Phinney of the local police force got busy Saturday afternoon and made a raid upon the Star Theater at 567 Broadway, and the Lyric Theater on the Strand, and in each place found several children under 16 years of age enjoying the show unaccompanied by either parent or guardian.

This morning Manager Smith was arraigned before Recorder Lang and said that he had been told that the Star but a short time, and had no idea that he was violating the law and if he had he would not have done so. On his plea of guilty he was fined $20 and sentence suspended pending good behavior.

The same action was taken in the case of Manager Stone. It is said that the police department have received a number of complaints regarding the local theaters that children when they get some money would play truant from school to attend the movies. It is expected that the police will keep a close watch on all the theaters in the city to see that the law is observed. The section violated in the case of the two theaters named was that of allowing children under 16 years of age admittance to the show unaccompanied by either parent or guardian.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Blisk of Pine Hill have been spending the past week in Kingston visiting friends.

John Martin, of the Eagle garage, is confined to his home at 630 Broadway, with the grip.

Miss Sophia Kaplan of 121 Fair street, accompanied by her cousin, Miss Ella Goldman, of Altoona, Pa., are spending a week with friends and relatives in New York and New Jersey.

Dr. and Mrs. Putnam Cady of the Episcopal Street Presbyterian Church, went to New York today where Dr. Cady lectures at the Morris High School on "Egyptian Art." They will return tomorrow.

"Bird Mite" Tomorrow Night.

Tomorrow evening Edward Avis will give his remarkably interesting, instructive and entertaining lecture-recital at the high school auditorium. The subject of the lecture-recital will be "Birdland." Every person who has ever heard Mr. Avis will be anxious to hear him again, and moreover these enthusiasts are persuading their many friends, especially those interested in the subject of our many birds about this vicinity, to surely attend this lecture. The small sum of twenty-five cents admission will be charged, the lecture-recital being in charge of the Boroughs Audubon Society of the high school. The bird pictures and the clever mimicking of the bird songs and calls are so realistic that one's knowledge of local birds is greatly enhanced by hearing Mr. Avis.

Foundation Laid for Barn.

MINSTREL MATINEE WAS BIG SUCCESS

St. Peter's Hall Crowded Sunday Afternoon for Premier Performance of Home Talent. Hawaiian Rehearsal Tonight and Tuesday Night.

St. Peter's Hall was crowded beyond standing room Sunday afternoon at the matinee of the Hawaiian minstrels and another record crowd is expected to attend the performance this evening and Tuesday evening, commencing at 8 o'clock. The hall and stage are decorated in Hawaiian colorings and scenery, yellow and orange, abundant sunflowers and palms in evidence carrying one to the tropical clime of the south sea isles.

The chorus consisted of seventy-five voices, male and female. The scene is that of a Hawaiian tea garden with the boys in olive drab uniforms and the girls in the Hawaiian sarong. The girls in the chorus are dressed in the style of the aristocratic natives, while the comedians are dressed in imitation straw dresses. The black face comedians are gentlemen chefs, who travel with the boys. The songs are for the most part U. S. A. and Hawaiian. Other features are Hawaiian dancing by Miss Cora Shadler and Miss Katherine Kearney. Singing by the famous St. Peter's quartet, Ralph Heitzmann, Zellmer, Daniel, Original comedy, speaking, and singing up to the minute by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schreyer. A black face skit by Radenberg, Hallenbeck, Fisher and Miller. Dancing will follow the performance on both nights. Music by St. Peter's orchestra, Messrs. Schwabach, Hoag, Fahndick and Wood. Refreshments of all kinds will be served by the ladies of the parish throughout the evening.

THE JOINERS.

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

DECKER STOLE A TUB OF BUTTER

Was Drunk, he Said, and Knew Not What he Was Doing—Sent to Albany Pen for Three Months—Gallagher Had no Home.

John Decker, 50 years old, pleaded guilty to stealing a tub of butter from the delivery sleigh of Frederick C. Turck, the Cedar street grocer, on Saturday afternoon, and Recorder Lang sentenced him to three months in the Albany penitentiary. Decker told Recorder Lang this morning that he was drunk at the time and did not know whether he had stolen the tub of butter or not. Several witnesses who saw Decker steal the tub were sworn and told of the affair.

The delivery sleigh was in charge of Charles Hotelling and he had tied the horse on Cedar street while making deliveries nearby, and when he returned to the sleigh he found the tub of butter, valued at $29, missing. He notified the police and Sergeant Hanley and Sergeant Phinney got busy and rounded up Decker, who they found in front of Frank Guadagnola's saloon on Greenhill avenue. The butter tub was found in the alleyway alongside the saloon and taken charge of by Sergeant Phinney.

This morning Recorder Lang ordered the tub of butter turned over to Mr. Turck.

Thomas Gallagher, 55 years old, a stranger who has no home or means of support, was picked up by Seth Jocelyn of the sheriff's office on Saturday and this morning Recorder Lang sent him to jail for 20 days. Gallagher said he has two sons who are working and an effort will be made to get in touch with them and have them care for their father.

Who Owns Bob Veal?

So far Dr. Harold Clarke of the health board has secured no direct evidence as to the owner of the bob veal that he seized last week in the slaughter house of Simon Siller. The carcass was destroyed, but it is said that Dr. Clarke has received a telephone message that he must give up the calf skins that were seized at the same time. The doctor is said to have informed the man who telephoned the message that he can have the skins if he would call, and claim them as his property. This as yet has not been done probably due to the fact that when ownership is established an arrest on a charge of having bob veal would be preferred against the owner.

Entertainment at School No. 1.

All present enjoyed a pleasing entertainment given Saturday evening in School No. 1, where a varied program was heard. Sam Tinnie of Port Jervis, dressed in Highland costume, gave Scottish dances in which he made a great hit, while the recitations by Mrs. H. P. Van Wagenen cannot be too highly commended. Mrs. Baker's reading on Women's Rights, she a suffragist you know, was also heartily applauded. A collection of Lincoln pennies was taken for the support of the extension of child welfare work. At the close of the entertainment refreshments were served.

Soloist at Rhinebeck Church.

Harry Clearwater, formerly soloist at St. John's Church, began his engagement as soloist at the Rhinebeck Church, Rhinebeck, Sunday. Mr. Clearwater has been connected with the choir of St. John's Church for the past 25 years and will no doubt be missed from his place in that choir as he has served faithfully there for that length of time, but his many friends in this city wish him the best of good luck in his present position.

O'RYAN INSPECTS COMPANY M POST

Division Commander Pays Unexpected Visit to Ireland Corners and Praises Captain Meagher's Command for State of Efficiency—New Mole-skin Coats Issued.

Post Dittus and Ireland Corners were on the military map Sunday with a big star marking Company M which was inspected by none other than Major General John F. O'Ryan who drove up to the Post headquarters in a big automobile, unannounced, shortly before 5 o'clock.

Lieutenant Dittus recognized the division commander at once and had all of the company on duty at this point lined up for inspection in a file. Major General O'Ryan was much pleased at the pep displayed by the Kingston guardsmen and at conditions at their quarters, both at Clinton Hotel and at Post Dittus. He told the lieutenant that his post was the best he had yet encountered.

Major General O'Ryan stopped more than 20 minutes but his big highpowered automobile did not even hesitate at regimental headquarters in New Paltz, continuing on to Albany. It was the commanding officer's intention to cross the Hudson at Rondout and there board a fast train for the capital, where he had important conferences scheduled for today. It is said that Major General O'Ryan expressed to Captain Meagher a high opinion of the appearance of Company M men and the ship-shape state of affairs at this post.

On Saturday Captain Meagher received 20 mole-skin coats, heavily lined with sheep's wool, the finest things for comfort that have yet been provided for the men on guard. With these coats in use, the guardsmen will cease to worry over the groundhog prophecies or the most sensational of storm warnings.

Mental Movies of Company M.

Peach pie was the product of the Post Dittus cuisine Saturday night. The peaches were picked the night before. Sherman's bummers never struck a country with less means of sustenance than Ireland Corners. The captain finally found a farmer to bring in a lot of cordwood. Bucking the pile is a favorite outdoor sport. Cigarettes and tobacco from the Depot Company were gratefully received, these smoky sinners of war serving over the week end.

A newspaper man pointed his camera at one of the boys on duty at the gate-house and the sentry pointed his gun at the camera. The reporter refused to be a martyr to duty and desisted—another film tragedy.

Corporal Neller is the hotel clerk. Sergeant Dixon is the house manager and Captain Meagher the landlord. The rest of the bunch make up the bell boys, house detectives and chef's assistants—the most complete hotel along the line of the Ashokan patrol. If a guest wants to go up, he pulls the gray mule's tail and takes the elevator.

Many of the boys attended mass Sunday. The parish priest, who has a Ford, had a tough time in getting through the drifts to Post Dittus. Corporal Geschwinder enacted a movie scene in "posting the guard" for a photographer. It was a fair picture of what the boys have been up against but no camera has yet been able to reproduce below zero stuff.

The boys were glad to make a common carrier out of the district manager of the telephone company Saturday—he's really an uncommon carrier in being so good natured when the Kingston company wants to put something over the hills and far away.

Oscar, of the Waldorf who has a farm near Rifton, is coming down to make a personal inspection of the cook detail at the Clinton Inn and Post Dittus.

At the latter camp, the fireproof vault used by the engineers for storing maps is the handiest little cold storage that could be devised.

Captain Cranston was on duty Saturday measuring out the calories in the daily diet sheets. He is most impressed with the good health and spirits of the men of M Company, which has the unique record of no responses to sick call of all the units along the aqueduct.

Most of the girls got letters today from the Company M boys. Some of the letters were collected together to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the organization which later became the Parent-Teachers Association. Richard Coon of New York city addressed the men and women present upon the subject, "The Rights of the Child; the Rights of the Parent; the Rights of the Teacher." The subject was handled without gloves or sickly sentimentality, in the plainest and most sensible manner, which could be well understood and appreciated by the entire audience. Many forceful remarks were made and it was the opinion of all that the cause of the "Parent-Teachers' work as an organized body had received a decided impetus and advance by the address given by Mr. Coon. The program following the address was excellent and pleasing in every number.

SOMETHING NEW IN SOCIAL LINE

First of a Series of Socials for Young Folks to be Held at Y. M. C. A. Evening of February 28—To be Held Monthly.

Something new in the social line has been planned by the various young people's societies in Kingston and the social committee of the local Y. M. C. A., and as a result of the plans talked over the first of a series of socials for all young folks of the city will be held Wednesday evening, February 28, at the Y. M. C. A. under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Societies of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church and the First Presbyterian Church and the social committee of the association. A fine program has been arranged for the occasion and all young people are urged to bear the date in mind and attend.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Sunday afternoon Master Joseph Hardy Hughes entertained a number of his friends at his home, 235 Hasbrouck avenue, in honor of his first birthday. The dining room was prettily decorated with smilax and ferns. The centerpiece of the table was a beautiful birthday cake with one lighted candle. During the supper that followed Master Michael Sours acted as toast master, assisted by Master Jacob Albert Veider. Many games were played and the young folks presented Master Hughes with many presents. The event was a most enjoyable one and will be long remembered by those present, who departed wishing the host many happy returns of the day.

On Saturday evening Assistant Superintendent Timothy O'Neill of the Prudential Insurance Company, and Mrs. O'Neill, were surprised by a number of friends who gathered at their residence on the Boulevard in honor of Mrs. O'Neill's birthday. The evening was delightfully spent in singing and dancing and refreshments were served. Mrs. O'Neill was the recipient of many gifts, among them being an immense cake which was lighted with tiny candles during the evening. The members of the party were Mr. and Mrs. F. Johnston-Carrington.

Fred Johnson of Hurley and Miss Effie Carrington of 128 Hurley avenue, Kingston, were quietly married by the Rev. P. N. Chase, Ph.D., at his residence, 15 Green street, this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston left for Shandaken on the afternoon train where Mr. Johnston is employed and where a newly furnished home awaits them.

The Coterie.

The Coterie met on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Thompson. Miss Fuller had the first paper of the afternoon, "Spanish Philippines vs. American Philippines." Miss Fuller presented an excellent map of the Philippines, showing their strategic position, surrounded by the Pacific Ocean, the China Sea and the Straights of Borneo. Beginning with the first settlement in 1521, when it was known that the people were possessed of a rude form of agriculture and architecture, Miss Fuller further told of the invasion of the Priests, who in the beginning held and strove for the highest ideals. They considered the good of the natives to be of first importance and strove to provide that good. Then little by little, the ideals were lost sight of, until the ruling Priests found the wealth of the islands of first importance, and the people were downtrodden and tyrannized over in order that the wealth might fall into the coffers of the ruling body. The cities and the people of this time were described and then considerable time was devoted to the visitation of Admiral Dewey to the islands, their coming under American rule, and the efforts which have since been made by this country to learn whether or no the Philippines are yet ready for self government. The paper was so informing and illuminating that all regretted when it was brought to a close. It was followed by a reading from "The Social Cancer," given by Mrs. Ellis, who told the entire story briefly, showing it to deal entirely with the Philippine life. It was compared, in its bearing upon the subject dealt with, to Uncle Tom's Cabin and its relation to slavery. While the book contains much that is horrible of necessity, still it has created all over the world a deep sympathy for and interest in the entire Philippine question. Following a very pleasant social hour, the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Kingman on March 2.

King's Daughters Will Attend.

The King's Daughters of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will meet at the church on Tuesday at 1 o'clock in the afternoon to attend the funeral of Mrs. S. Johnson who died on Sunday at her home on Furnace street.

KELSEY IS WITH MILITARY LEAGUE

William B. Kelsey Resigns as Head of Stratford, Conn., Schools to be Field Secretary of Military Training League—A Former Principal of Ponchockie School No. 1.

The Bridgeport Telegram of February 7, prints an item regarding William B. Kelsey, a former principal of School No. 4 in Ponchockie, who is still remembered with esteem by Kingston residents. The article reads as follows:

After seven years of indefatigable service as superintendent of schools in Stratford, William B. Kelsey, M. A., a graduate of both Yale and Colgate colleges and the possessor of an enviable reputation in scholastic circles throughout the state, tendered his resignation at the regular meeting last night of the Stratford school board, to take effect February 16. After a resolution of regret had been passed by the members, at Mr. Kelsey's action, it was voted to install in his stead for the time being, R. Edgar Fisher, at present the principal of the Stratford high school and a prominent resident of that town. Mr. Kelsey, it is understood, will assume the duties for the rest of the year.

Has Responsible Position.

More elaborate opportunities for progress, it seems, actuated Mr. Kelsey to relinquish his duties, for he is now to assume the responsible position of field secretary of the Universal Military Training League. His new duties will comprise in part the inauguration of a purely educational campaign to arouse sentiment in favor of universal military training.

Mr. Kelsey has been known as a firm advocate of the Chamberlain Bill, which requires six months intensive military training for all men in their 19th year and he now intends to utilize every effort possible towards bringing about such service from all alike, rich and poor, employer and employed, foreign and native born. He believes such a movement will be a strong factor in perpetuating American democracy.

Former Militiaman.

An ex-militia member, having served in the Tenth Regiment, N. G., of New York, Mr. Kelsey has always been active in military movements. For more than four years he was principal of the Waterville school in this city, where he originated the school drum corps. He went to Stratford in 1910 as superintendent of schools.

Mr. Kelsey's headquarters for the present will be in Bridgeport. He intends making his residence in Milford.

A capable successor has been obtained it is believed however, in the naming of R. Edgar Fisher. Principal Fisher has gained distinction in many matters pertaining to educational work and it is believed that he will carry out his new ideas in a highly successful manner.

Tradition has held longer away over home life than over even religious life, and probably rightly, just as the instinct for accustomed food has its justification in the vital importance of food to life, so change in the heart of home must be made wisely and slowly and with knowledge, lest the whole be destroyed.—Ellen Richards.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Dates are not expensive and they may be used in combination with other fruit, making a most wholesome salad.

Steamed Date Pudding.—Cream half a cupful of butter, add one cupful each of molasses and milk, one pound of stoned and chopped dates, mixed with two cupfuls of stale bread crumbs, one teaspoonful of soda, and half a teaspoonful each of cloves, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg; mixed and stifted with one cupful of entire wheat flour. Turn into a buttered pudding dish and steam three hours. Serve with creamy sauce.

Creamy Sauce.—To the beaten whites of two eggs add one cupful of powdered sugar and one cupful of whipped cream, blend lightly; add a teaspoonful each of vinegar and vanilla extract.

Hot vegetable soup made of any small amount of leftover vegetables with the addition of a binding of butter and flour and a little milk, will make a most appetizing dish of soup for a chilly night.

Rhubarb Pongee.—Clean and cut in half-inch pieces one pound of rose rhubarb. Do not remove the skin. Stew until tender in one-fourth of a cupful of boiling water, or just enough to cook without scorching. Soften one ounce of granulated gelatin in one-third of a cupful of cold water. Strain the cooked rhubarb, pressing out all the juice and add enough boiling water to make three cupfuls. Mix three-fourths of a cupful of sugar and a half teaspoonful of ground ginger. Stir in the rhubarb juice and add the gelatin, stirring until the gelatin is dissolved. Add the grated rind and strained juice of one lemon and set the mixture to chill. When it begins to thicken add the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs and beat until stiff. Mold. Serve with beaten and sweetened whipped cream.

Pumpkin Pie.—Take a cupful of well-cooked, sifted pumpkin, add a pint of rich milk, a half cupful of sugar, two eggs, a teaspoonful of ginger, a dash of cinnamon and a half teaspoonful of lemon extract. Fill the crust and bake slowly.

Tradition has held longer away over home life than over even religious life, and probably rightly, just as the instinct for accustomed food has its justification in the vital importance of food to life, so change in the heart of home must be made wisely and slowly and with knowledge, lest the whole be destroyed.—Ellen Richards

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Dishes are not expensive and they may be used in combination with other fruit, making a most wholesome salad.

Steamed Date Pudding.—Cream half a cupful of butter, add one cupful each of molasses and milk, one pound of stoned and chopped dates, mixed with two cupfuls of stale bread crumbs, one teaspoonful of soda, and half a teaspoonful each of cloves, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg; mixed and stirred with one cupful of entire wheat flour. Turn into a buttered pudding dish and steam three hours. Serve with creamy sauce.

Creamy Sauce.—To the beaten whites of two eggs add one cupful of powdered sugar and one cupful of whipped cream, blend lightly; add a teaspoonful each of vinegar and vanilla extract.

Hot vegetable soup made of any small amount of leftover vegetables with the addition of a binding of butter and flour and a little milk, will make a most appetizing dish of soup for a chilly night.

Rhubarb Sponge.—Clean and cut in half-inch pieces one pound of rhubarb. Do not remove the skin. Stew until tender in one-fourth of a cupful of boiling water, or just enough to cook without scorching. Soften one ounce of granulated gelatin in one-third of a cupful of cold water. Strain the cooked rhubarb, pressing out all the juice and add enough boiling water to make three cupfuls. Mix three-fourths of a cupful of sugar and a half teaspoonful of ground ginger. Stir in the rhubarb juice and add the gelatin, stirring until the gelatin is dissolved. Add the grated rind and strained juice of one lemon and set the mixture to chill. When it begins to thicken add the "stiff" beaten whites of three eggs and beat until stiff. Mold. Serve with beaten and sweetened whipped cream.

Pumpkin Pie.—Take a cupful of well-cooked, sifted pumpkin, add a pint of rich milk, a half cupful of sugar, a dash of cinnamon and a half teaspoonful of lemon extract. Fill the crust and bake slowly.

WASHINGTON FROM THREE VIEWPOINTS

Career of Father of His Country as Soldier, Citizen and Statesman Reviewed by Judge Jenkins, Joseph M. Fowler and Alfred D. Van Buren at First Dutch Church.

Services in commemoration of George Washington were held in the First Dutch Church Sunday evening and attracted a large congregation who listened with close attention to interesting and instructive addresses by Judge James Jenkins, Joseph M. Fowler and Alfred D. Van Buren.

Judge Jenkins spoke on "Washington the Man." He referred to the manner in which Washington gave freely of his services to his country. He was a man of vision but not visionary. The picture Washington saw of the country which he had been called on to lead in his hour of extremity was that of a kingdom with God as its king, having for its motto "In God we Trust," and his own greatness prevented him from seeing himself in the picture. Having completed his work as military leader he had planned to return to the pleasures of private life, but at the call of duty he again responded. Unwilling to become a dictator, as proposed, he was willing again to serve his fellow countrymen. Unselfishness such as he displayed could be founded only on the principles of honesty, right and justice inspired by a sincere and deeply rooted belief in God and a conviction that in honoring Him, neither man nor nation could make a mistake.

Joseph M. Fowler spoke on "Washington the Soldier," and referred to the timeliness of observance of his birthday by a nation where conditions required that thoughts on personal matters should be superseded by attention to matters of national importance. He reviewed briefly Washington's early career and military training during the French and Indian wars. This training and preparation made him preeminently fit to become the great military tactician of the Revolution. Washington never had anticipated at this early date that his country would be called on to take part in a long war, but later when Colonial events began to shape themselves toward active resistance of tyranny he foresaw the coming conflict and advocated preparedness. Our national situation today is somewhat similar to the condition then, and we are unprepared. This condition is serious but it may not be fatal, for where loyalty abounds, the other necessary elements of preparedness will disclose themselves.

Alfred D. Van Buren spoke on "Washington the Statesman." At a time when the most delicate conditions in our national history required for their successful outcome the matured tact of statesmanship, Washington had become the commanding figure who had dominated all the conflicting elements that arise in a new nation. He had brought about the salvation of his country during a long and hard struggle and more than any other man in America knew intimately the needs of the country as a whole in its domestic relations and in its relation with other nations. His carefulness, his sound judgment and his experience had shown his pre-eminence in statecraft, which coupled with his intimate knowledge of men and his vast knowledge of affairs as a student enabled him to judge best the precise steps needed to furnish for the people for whose liberty he had fought a form of government that would be enduring.

At the close of the addresses, the Rev. Dr. Loeper spoke briefly on Washington's visit to Kingston, his reception by the consistory of the First Dutch Church which as the leading institution of the community had seen fit to frame an address to him expressive of the high esteem in which every resident had good reason to hold him, and of Washington's reply, which Washington had read to the assembled congregation and then handed to a member of the church. The address is preserved in the vestibule of the church, in a glass-covered frame which has been sunk in the wall of the edifice.

Special music was rendered by the choir of the church under the direction of W. Whiting Frederburgh, organist and choirmaster. For the anthem, the choir rendered the late Miss Mary Isabelle Forsyth's well known hymn, "Unto Thee, O, the God of our Fathers," and for the offertory Miss Molyneux and the choir rendered Lerman's "There's no Land Like Ours."

A MENTAL MYSTERY

By ALAN HINSDALE

We have become used to an electric station sending forth its power across a continent or an ocean without any other medium than the atmosphere, but few of us are prepared to admit that one human brain is capable of affecting another human brain without any other medium than that of the wireless telegraph.

Nevertheless, there are instances of such communication.

I believe that there is a mental force not yet explained scientifically that carries these messages, and I am going to give the reason why I have arrived at this conclusion.

I am an artist. From a child I have been absorbed in the beauties of nature and their transmission to another form. As a boy I could make these transformations so successfully that my pictures attracted the attention of my friends. Nothing would do but that I must be educated for an artist.

But there was no means for the purpose. A younger sister of mine had been left a small legacy by her grandmother. My sister—Eleanor—was her name—insisted on devoting this money to my education. I declined to accept it at first, but she insisted that I would be a successful artist, my pictures would sell at good prices, and I could repay her. Thus encouraged, I consented and entered an art school.

Unfortunately my education took from me the ability I had shown in freehand drawing. The technique required for work that would pass the critics was obnoxious to me. Nevertheless, I persevered and mastered it. But I never regained the ability I had possessed to hit off something that indicated genius.

I spent several years after being graduated at the art school painting pictures, which were no better than hundreds of other artists could paint. I regretted that I had accepted my sister's loan, for I was scarcely able to make enough money to keep body and soul together, to say nothing of paying what I had borrowed.

One winter I broke down in health and in the spring was told I must have change of scene and air to build up my strength. In my weakened condition my debt to my sister got on my mind, and I could not get it off. Eleanor begged me to stop worrying about it, but without success. I was sent off to the seashore and lodged in a fisherman's cottage.

One morning I was sitting on the porch of the cottage looking out on the ocean. The sun was gilding the blue waves which were rolling in and breaking on the beach. Some fishermen were getting out their boat, gulls were flying hither and thither overhead, one occasionally darting down to pounce upon a fish. I was seized with a desire—natural to an artist—to portray this scene.

I had not been permitted to bring my artist's tools with me, so I could not do as I wished. As I sat in my comfortable wicker chair, fanned by a balmy sea breeze, I began to work over an imaginary canvas, laying down on it the view before me. The picture grew in my mind as plainly as if I were really putting it on canvas. I worked, without effort—or at least seemed to do so—and was conscious of transferring the scene before me exactly as it was without the loss of any of its subtle beauties.

Nevertheless there must have been a severe mental effort, for as soon as I had finished my imaginary or mental work I lost consciousness and knew nothing till late in the afternoon, when I found myself in bed.

It was some time before I gained sufficient strength to go home. When I returned my sister told me that there was no further necessity for me to worry about my debt to her, for it had been paid. I asked her who had paid it, and she said that I had paid it myself. Further than that she would give me no information until I had fully recovered.

One day after I had got stronger I went, unbeknown to any one, to a room at home that I had used for a studio. There was a desk in it, and, going to this desk without any definite object, I noticed a pigeonhole that had been empty was now full of papers. I took them out and found they were letters that had accumulated during my illness. I opened one and read it. It was from a dealer in pictures asking me if I had any of my work for sale. He had a constant demand for it. Astonished, I opened another and another. They were all requests for my pictures.

While I was thus engaged my sister came in. She seemed much put out that I had come upon the letters. But the explanation must now come out, and she gave it to me.

One morning while I was at the seashore she had come into my studio and something, she knew not what, had prompted her to sit down before my easel, take my implements and begin to sketch. She had no ability whatever as an artist and was astonished to see a marine view grow on the canvas. Nevertheless, when she had finished she had no idea that she had produced a marvelous picture.

Her production was admired, and, attaching my name to it, she took it to a dealer, who sold it for $5,000. I went to see the painting, and what was my amazement to see that it was the scene I had mentally painted while at the fisherman's cottage. I had painted it with the freehand excellence of my youth, and yet it was a finished picture.

PRINCESS MARY TAKES ACTIVE PART IN RELIEF WORK. (Princess Mary of England.)

The above photograph shows Princess Mary, daughter of the King who is now the most popular member of the British royal household. She is busily engaged in Red Cross work while her brother, the Prince of Wales, is at the front doing active duty as a soldier.

Famous Gretta Green.

Gretta Green is a village of Dumfries, a border county of Scotland and near the border line between Scotland and England. Formerly a common resort of runaway couples from England, the practice was broken up by an act of 1836, which provided that no marriage should be valid in Scotland unless one of the parties had lived in Scotland for the 21 days next preceding the marriage, or had his or her usual residence there at the time.

Thought Some Overlooked.

A party of friends was gathered New Year's day. After the wine had been passed around there were two glasses left on the tray untouched. Just as we were about to drink my brother-in-law said, "Well, folks, here's to happy days." His little daughter, who had been watching the whole performance, pointed to the glasses on the tray and said, "Daddy, whose happy days are these?"—Chicago Tribune.

Some Difference.

When a little friend of mine was three and one-half years old his father asked him what he wanted to be when he grew up. He replied quickly: "A man." "Well," said his father, "what's the difference between a boy and a man?" The little fellow was puzzled for a moment, finally he said, "smoke."—Cleveland Leader.

Candor and frankness are such beautiful things that it is a pity they should ever be allowed to degenerate into mere bluntness. Sincerity can be kind and tactful. Bluntness turns the truth into a sort of bludgeon with which to beat down and destroy. Frankness makes the truth a helping hand held out to rescue.

Absolutely Useless.
While opinion is not unanimous in support of the idea, probably the most useless thing is the inside pocket which every tailor sews into a waistcoat.—Topeka Capital.

Andean Knowledge of the World.
Knowledge of the world is not one of the strong points of the Andean natives. Harry A. Frank, wandering through Colombia on foot, had this fact thrust upon him by a certain barber. "Last year another Meester"—in the rural Andes the native form of this word is used as a common noun to designate not only Americans and Englishmen, but Germans, Swedes, Frenchmen and even Spaniards—"stopped here," he began. "You will perhaps know him. His name was Meester Giuseppe."

"We doubt it."
"But surely you must know him," persisted the barber, "for he was a foreigner also."

The rural Colombian conceives of the world as made up of two countries, his own, the chief one, and a smaller one, perhaps only a city, that lies outside its boundaries.

A Lonely Continent.
Australia is the most isolated of all inhabited continents and is remote from the center of all the world's activities. Northward the sailing distance to Japan is approximately 3,000 nautical miles; to India 2,500 miles. South America is 7,000 miles to the east, and Africa an equal distance west. From London to the capital of Australia ships by the Suez route traverse approximately 11,000 miles of water and by the Panama canal 12,750 miles. From California ports the routes via Samsa or Fiji or Tahiti cover a quarter of the circumference of the earth. Australia's only large civilized neighbor within a radius of 1,000 miles is Java.—National Geographic Magazine.

For the Salad Course.
Have "ships of the desert" for your next salad course.
Cut off crisp lettuce leaves to the number you expect to serve. In the center of each leaf arrange a square of the more compact lettuce from the center of the head and surround it with stoned dates. Lay a slice of cream cheese on top and sprinkle with parsley. Serve with French dressing.
Arrange all the "ships" on a large plate and garnish with celery, parsley or lettuce leaves.

Only Wanted the Chance.
Emperor—I do not care to hear your proposition, sir. Everything that is submitted must first be put through the prime minister. Subject—Nothing would please me better. I wanted to show you the new bayonet which I have invented for army use.—London Answers.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, Feb. 19.—One of the important meetings of the week is the Frances Willard Memorial meeting, which the members of the local Woman's Christian Temperance Union will observe. Mrs. John H. DeVany will entertain all the members and anyone who would like to become a member at her home on Center street Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Martha H. Bell of Milton, county president, is to be present and address the ladies, and there will be other interesting feature of the afternoon's entertainment.

The Ellenville high school basketball team defeated the Port Jervis high school team at Norbury Hall Friday evening by a score of 25 to 16. It was considered by those attending to be one of the best games of the season. The young people enjoyed dancing after the game.

The horse races on the ice at Kerhonkson Saturday afternoon were attended by a large crowd of interested people. About fifty attended from Ellenville, and everybody enjoyed the sport. Three horses were entered, May K. Gordon, owned and driven by Webb Wynkoop won the three straight heats.

There were no services at the Methodist Episcopal Church on Sunday, owing to the break to the furnace. The parts to be supplied will be here this week, and without doubt the furnace will be in running order by next Sunday.

Republican and Democratic caucuses were held Friday evening, but no nominations were made for village officers. It is expected that the two parties will unite and have but one ticket in the field, which is certainly best in a village election.

Judge Cunningham and Mrs. Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Hoernbeck and Miss Mabel Fredd went to New York to attend the reunion of Ellenville people at the banquet held at the Park Avenue Hotel Saturday night, an account of which will be given later in The Freeman.

Large congregations were present at the Reformed Church on Sunday. The Rev. Walter S. Maines, pastor, delivered two very able sermons. The theme for the morning was, "The Christian—The Type of Manhood Needed Today." The Rev. Mr. Maines is a powerful speaker, and his productions without notes are masterful and very forceful. The evening was "The Genius of Washington," a very timely subject. At the morning service in the offertory anthem Miss Pauline Taylor sang the solo part in very beautiful voice.

A coffee social, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society, will be held in the Reformed Church parlors Thursday afternoon from 5 until 7 o'clock.

The board of trade held their annual banquet at the Mitchell House on Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock. There will be music, and speakers are to be present from Kingston, Middletown and Liberty. R. Eugene Clark is secretary.

The members of the Dorcas Society are to meet with Mrs. H. W. Coons at her home on Center street Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Otis Lapp will entertain the Sewing Circle of the Lutheran Church at her home on Circle avenue Tuesday afternoon.

David Parr of the post office force and Horace Eaton left for Florida on Friday, where they are to spend a month.

Miss Elizabeth Bell, who is spending the winter in New York, is on a visit of a few days with Mrs. John Richards on Maiden Lane.

The Misses Adele Warner of New York and Estelle Eckert of Middletown are spending some days at their home in Ellenville.

Mrs. Margaret Ward entertained the members of the Whist Club at her home on Canal street Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. L. W. Millard has returned from a visit with friends in Philadelphia, Pa., and her daughter and family at Rideside Park, N. J.

Cashier Floyd Garrison of the Home Bank has purchased a fine lot on Park street and expects to build a residence on it at some time later, which he and his family will occupy.

Mrs. Hilda Hasbrouck Rhodes of Bradshaw, Nebraska, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. William Hasbrouck, Sr., and cousins in this vicinity.

Awosting Temple, No. 1, Pythian Sisters, will hold their regular meeting in their rooms Thursday evening. After the meeting a social hour will be spent in games, music and refreshments will be served. All members are invited to be present.

MOTION PICTURE NOVELTY.

Statues That Are Made to Dance, Act, Jump and Fight.

The motion picture folk have hit upon a novelty called "animated sculpture," which means that they take statues and make them move. The feat isn't as hard as it seems, although the work required is much greater than drawing hundreds of pictures with pen and ink for a movie cartoon.

The figures are first modeled in clay, then changed to different poses and photographed one by one. The photos are thrown on the screen without a break, so that they jump about as if they were real. The effect is startlingly realistic and highly amusing. In one of the films only recently completed there are no less than nine figures, all of them moving about as if they were flesh and blood. The rather jerky action serves only to enhance the amusing result.

To appreciate the amount of work required in making these new films it must be remembered that each time one of the sculptured figures moves a new pose must be made. This means, in other words, that the camera must stop until the sculptor goes over each plastic figure and molds it into the correct position before he can photograph it. There are sixteen different poses to a foot of film. Hence for the ordinary reel of 1,000 feet there are 16,000 separate poses for each figure. Imagine the work required when three or more figures have to be made for each scene!—Popular Science Monthly.

THE "OPEN DOOR."

What Is Meant by the Term in International Politics.

The "open door" is in international politics the principle of equal treatment in trade with oriental countries for all trading nations as opposed to the policy of effective monopoly in favor of any one nation.

The phrase came into popular use toward the end of the nineteenth century, when various European nations were trying to establish "spheres of influence" in China.

The United States was opposed to the granting of any nation of exclusive trading privileges in these "spheres of influence," and in 1899 John Hay, secretary of state, addressed a circular note to the interested powers, asking them to pledge themselves not to interfere with any treaty port or with any vested interest within their respective spheres of influence, to encourage that discriminating customs and port duties should not be levied in such spheres and that within any nation's sphere of influence no higher railroad charges should be imposed upon subjects of other nations than upon subjects of the nations having such spheres.

The pledges asked were given in their entirety by France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy and Japan. Russia reserved the right to levy discriminatory duties.—New York Times.

Trap Shooting.

Home trap shooting has become almost as popular as shooting at gun clubs, and people living in the country find it a splendid way of entertaining their friends. They select an open field for their shooting grounds, and the equipment consists simply of a hand trap and a barrel of targets. The guests are invited to bring their guns and ammunition and spend an afternoon in the country. And, oh, the fun they do have!

Aside from the fascinations of trap shooting, one must consider the great benefit of the sport to women and young girls. As a strengthener of muscles and a steadier of nerves it can hardly be surpassed. It also causes women to lose all signs of timidity and makes them fully competent to take care of themselves in all circumstances.—Exchange.

Niagara Falls Erosion.

Canada is rapidly gaining possession of the greater part of Niagara falls. The American falls now carry less than a twentieth of the entire flow. For 200 years or more the center of Horseshoe falls has been receding by erosion at the rate of about five feet a year. The edge of the American falls recedes much more slowly—only a few inches a year. As the Canadian falls drop back toward Lake Erie they receive a larger and larger volume of water.—Youth's Companion.

Good Advice to Motorists.

The precaution enjoined by police department officials of New York city on owners of motor trucks, "Don't allow your driver to rely too much on the horn," might be accepted by motorcar owners generally to the advantage of all concerned. A widespread observance of this direction would afford excellent discipline for the drivers as well as increased safety for pedestrians and would mitigate the noise on city streets.—Christian Science Monitor.

Training Children.

A common fault among children is that of self excuse. If reproved for idleness, untidiness or other childish failings the excuse is often ready. This is a bad habit, which if not checked is apt to degenerate into untruthfulness, and the lie becomes as easy as the excuse.

Truly Remarkable.

"That's a wonderful child you have." "Yes, indeed. What impresses you as being most remarkable about him?" "The fact that he'll show off when you want him to."—Detroit Free Press.

INDIVIDUAL THRIFT.

It Means to the Man What Conservation Does to the Nation.

The movement to encourage the people of this country to curb extravagance and to save money is rapidly growing, and it is a good thing that it is so. We need such a campaign, and its gospel of thrift should be spread broadcast throughout our land. The American people must save. They can no longer afford to waste.

It was the tremendous natural wealth of this country that made Americans a nation of spendthrifts. Now the end of nature's bounty is actually in sight. All of the better public lands have been taken up. The government is carefully estimating our resources of coal and oil. Water power is being developed and husbanded. Wealth is not half so easy to create as once it was, and for that reason there is a nation wide appreciation of the necessity for conserving it. Thrift means to the individual life exactly what conservation does to the nation.

This movement for saving money means a good deal more than the curbing of individual extravagance. It means more capital available for the uses of commerce. It means that when you have saved $1,000 you will find it a good deal easier to borrow another $1,000 if you have a good investment in view.

CLOTHES ON THE LINE.

Putting a Bit of Poetry into a Very Prosaic Task.

A ride along the interurban cars on a fine Monday will show you line after line of snowy clothes fluttering in the breeze, and if you are a woman who has ever tried her hand at the washing game you'll envy the woman who has the bright afternoon before her to do as she pleases since she has spent her morning so profitably.

Did you ever pin freshly washed clothes on a line out in the sunshine and breeze—clothes that you washed with your own hands?

You haven't? Well, you needn't say it with such a scornful tilt to your nose. You're to be pitied more than envied, for you've missed one of the joys of being a woman.

Maybe the real work of it, the scrubbing and boiling and rinsing part, couldn't be called pure joy, but hanging the pieces up, clean and sweet and white, then standing back to view proudly the whole long row—ah, then you taste the glory of real achievement, and it gives a satisfaction that few achievements give.

It's such a worthy work, making the world a cleaner, more wholesome place, by beginning on your own soiled garment.—Indianapolis News.

Big Chains Are Handmade.

In this day of machine manufacture it will perhaps surprise some to learn that the making of big chains is largely, if not entirely, confined to methods dependent on hand labor, says the Scientific American. There are probably no big chains being made in the United States by the use of machinery. There are various appliances employed, but these are hand-operated or personally controlled. This situation appears to be due to two things. First, as the proverbial expression has it, "a chain is no stronger than the weakest of its links." A handmade chain is naturally made link by link. If the workmen are not only careful, but conscientious as to details, there is a considerable opportunity for attention equivalent to continuous inspection. The making of big chains is largely an old time blacksmith's job.

Wasted Power.

Professor Charles Baskerville, head of the department of chemistry in the College of the City of New York, stated in a recent interview regarding the work of modern chemists:

"In any chemical problem there is no telling where the chemist will stop. Just now there are many chemists working on the problem of free gas. An immeasurable lot of power is wasted in the dumps of our coal mines. If this waste were reduced to gas by the retort process enough ammonia might be produced as a byproduct to pay for the whole cost of the operation, making the gas free. The gas could then be used to generate electric power. Really, one big railroad ought to be running on the power it is now throwing away in these supposedly worthless dumps."

Employment Managers.

The function of securing the right kind of help and seeing to it that that help makes continued progress toward maximum efficiency is second to no other in any factory, and for this reason the manager of the employment department must have absolute authority over those functions or at least must have first hand access to the ear of the supreme administrative authority.—R. C. Clothier in Industrial Management.

Coolness Under Difficulties.

The grammar school principal went from room to room explaining what to do in case of fire. The pupils listened with respectful attention until he came to his final instructions, then smiles and giggles disturbed the principal's serenity.

"Above all things," he said, "if your clothing catches fire remain cool."

Avoids Knockers.

Bill—Opportunity is knocking at your door daily, you know. Jill—Well, I don't pay any attention to "knockers," and if I did like as not he'd try to unload some new novelty of encyclopedia on me.—Exchange.

Providentially Saved.

While on her voyage from Sydney, a ship caught fire following an explosion in the donkey-house. With no way to fight the flames, it seemed as if the ship would be lost. Then a giant wave, lashed by the heavy wind, swept over the vessel, the blazing donkey-house went overboard and the fire was out.

JESE LIVERMORE.
"BOY PLUNGER" CLEANS UP ON "LEAK."

New York, Feb. 19.—New details brought to light in the congressional investigation of the "leak" which is supposed to have come from the White House on the German peace note, developed during the last days of the hearing. Jesse Livermore, once known in Wall Street as "The Boy Plunger," testified that he had made a clean million dollars on the day in question. From testimony introduced at the hearing it was evident that Livermore had advance information on the contents of the note.

Frightened to It.

It was quite a fashionable bridge party, and one of the players was a small, nervous young thing, not sure of any of her plays and fearfully afraid of her partner, a living proof of the existence of that much discussed creature, the "bridge fiend."

"I returned your lead then," said the other player frigidly, "and I am sure we would not have lost if you had discarded correctly. Would you mind telling me what you have been discarding from—strength or weakness?"

The nervous young thing lifted her eyes with a flash of spirit.

"From fright," she said candidly.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Startling Advice.

He had been in bad health for some time, so he consulted with a prominent physician, who told him he must travel for his health.

"I have neither the money nor the inclination to travel," replied the patient.

"Well, I'll tell you what to do," suggested the medical adviser. "You are employed in a bank. All in the world you will have to do will be to steal about $10,000, and you will have both the inclination and the money to travel."—Argonaut.

Gelatine Dessert,
with Fruit-Juice
Flavors In Sealed
VialsGet Your Free Package
Cut Out Our Magazine Coupon

To All Women

Many women's magazines for January and February contain a full-page ad on Jiffy-Jell in colors. Each ad contains a coupon, good at your grocery for a full size package free.

Cut out the coupon and present it to your grocer. We will pay him for the package that he gives you.

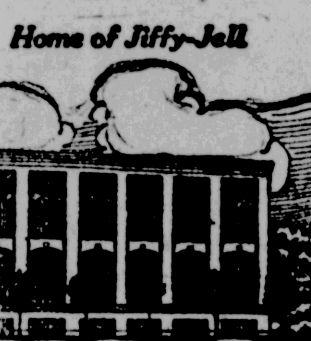

We are making this offer in millions of homes, to let Jiffy-Jell tell its own story. Just serve it for one dinner as our treat.

A Delightful Surprise

Jiffy-Jell will prove a delightful surprise. It is made of a rare-grade gelatine, costing twice as much as the common.

The flavors are made from the fruit itself. They are made by concentrating the fresh fruit juice. They are very different from artificial flavors.

Then each flavor comes sealed in a vial. It keeps its freshness until used.

Flavors which come mixed with the gelatine powder never keep their zest, as these do.

Then the boiling water, used to dissolve Jiffy-Jell, doesn't scald the flavor. The flavor is added from the vial when the jell has partly cooled.

So you get in Jiffy-Jell the flavor of fruit that is newly picked. You never have tasted a jelly dessert that compares with it.

First Dinner Free

If you present the coupon you will get your first serving free. It will give you a new conception of these ideal fruit desserts. It will bring you an extra-grade gelatine, the finest ever tasted. It will bring you fruit flavors which taste like crushed fruit. It will open the way to countless new delights.

Jiffy-Jell comes in seven flavors—Raspberry, Strawberry, Cherry, Orange, Lemon, Lime and Pineapple. The price when you buy it is two packages for 25c. A package makes 6 or 8 dishes.

The Unlaid Eggs

The grain-fed hen usually carries a number of unlaid eggs—yolks which she cannot complete into eggs and lay, because her feed lacks the necessary white-forming nutrients. (That's why egg-yolks are found in a hen when it is dressed.) Many of these yolks of unfinished eggs are finally absorbed back into the hen's system.

Missouri Experiment Station tests showed that 100 lbs. of wheat, corn, oats, barley and kafir corn make (above bodily maintenance) an average of 224 yolks and only 134 whites. Based on data from the same experiments.

Purina formulates produce, (above bodily maintenance) as follows:—

|------------------------|--------------|---------------|
| Purina Scratch Feed | 247.49 yolks | 142.11 whites |
| Purina Chicken Chowder | 182.05 " | 282.55 " |
| Combined Ration | 429.54 yolks | 424.66 whites |

These feeds, used in combination, form the most perfectly balanced and economical egg producer you can buy. Purina Chicken Chowder is the egg-completing ration containing exactly the right feed elements to make the necessary whites. That's why we can positively guarantee

OLD LIGHTHOUSE TO HIGH BIDDER

Abandoned Government Structure Offers Many Possibilities For Purchasers—Three Generations of the Murdock Family Have Kept Round Light Burning.

Since the completion of the new lighthouse at the mouth of the Roundout creek some time ago the old light on the south side of the dyke has been closed and empty and has caused a great deal of speculation among frequenters of the water front as to what would become of the substantial old stone building. Although the building from shore appears to be small a close inspection shows that it would put many a handsome home in this city to shame. The house is two stories high with a fine cellar and surmounted by the light which alone is large enough to allow several people standing room at one time.

Since the old light has been succeeded by the new beacon on the opposite side of the channel the government will dispose of the old building to the highest bidder. The building and stone pier will be sold but the site will not be included in the sale but will revert to the state from whom it was obtained by the government. The purchaser will be required to remove the building from the site unless permission can be secured from the state to allow it to remain where it is.

Bids must be submitted to the office of the inspector of the Third District at Tompkinsville, Staten Island, before 2 o'clock on the day the bids are opened.

Many a tale could be told of the occurrences which have taken place at the old lighthouse and of the dangers experienced by the keeper of the light. Before the present dyke protecting the light was built the annual break up of the ice in the upper creek was a nerve racking experience for the keeper and the labor required to place the dyke light along the long dyke and at the entrance to the creek in the winter while the ice was forming and while navigation was still open would furnish material for a very interesting book. The present keeper of the new light, James Murdock, has been keeper of the light since his mother's death and before his mother became keeper of the light his father was caretaker and never since the regime of the Murdock family has the light failed to burn as a warning to the Hudson river craft.

That the light will be left in the Murdock family for years to come seems certain for already the keeper's son is learning the duties which go with the care of one of the United States government lights and the care of the Roundout light will probably be presided over by a member of the Murdock family for years to come.

Accidents at the mouth of the creek to strangers who are not familiar with the channel and who take a chance without consulting a chart are frequent and although Keeper Murdock will not tell of the instances many a life has been saved by his quick work when a stranger drove his boat on the rocks outside the channel while attempting to enter the creek at night without looking at his chart.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, Feb. 19.—There was a meeting of school trustees of the town of Marletown at the school house on Wednesday afternoon of last week. Miss Nicholson, the supervisor of physical training, was also present. Miss Nicholson will visit the schools of Marletown and Rochester about once a month to instruct the teachers and inspect their work. The minimum requirement for physical training is twenty minutes a day divided into four periods of at least two minutes each. This training will consist of setting up exercises, personal tidiness marching and physical culture.

There was no school on Monday past as it was Lincoln's birthday.

Miss Alice Krom of Brooklyn and Miss Kathryn Krom of Rahway, N. J., were home for Lincoln's birthday.

Miss Nettie Duym is home on a two week's vacation. Her sister, Mrs. John Dyer, of Elizabeth, N. J., who has been staying with her mother during her recent illness, has gone to her home in the city.

Mrs. Mary Krom and daughter, Miss Miriam Krom, are ill with the grip.

Mrs. James Freer, who has been spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Purvis, of Kingston, returned home the past week.

The weather the first of the past week was very severe. The thermometer registered 29 degrees below zero in some places.

W. L. Krom has the contract to provide the soldiers from Albany who are stationed in the vicinity between shafts 1 and 8 with provisions.

The dance held in St. John's Hall on Wednesday evening was largely attended. There was also a dance on Saturday evening in the hall. The attendance was good. This is the last dance in the hall before the Lenten season.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Reformed Church held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of Mrs. George Holmes.

Miss Belle Van Wageningen called at the home of Miss Mary C. Van Wageningen on Thursday afternoon.

Most of the soldiers from Albany, who have been stationed here and in the nearby vicinity, have been recalled to Albany. There are only four or five left on duty.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold its regular business meeting on the first Thursday afternoon in March. As the officers for the ensuing year are to be elected at this time it is requested that all members be present and vote on these officers.

The Rev. George Dangremont called at the home of Miss Mary C. Van Wageningen on Thursday afternoon.

Miss Freida Sahler, who is at Dr. Johnston's Sanitarium, is doing nicely after her operation. Her friends will be glad to welcome her back home again.

REWARD for HONESTY

Purity and Delightfulness Make
CAMEL Cigarettes
The Most Popular and Best Selling
Cigarette Ever Sold at any Price

THIS enviable position has caused false and defamatory statements to be circulated about CAMELS, in order to injure their sale. As our investigation of these reports progresses, it becomes more and more apparent that "men higher up" originated the scheme and have superintended its execution. They were able to slander CAMELS in two ways: By hiring the irresponsible to lie about them, and by, perhaps, fraudulently inducing honest men to circulate the lie. But an honest man is always honest. Once he learns that he has been duped into misrepresentation, he not only stops it, but quits the employment of and exposes those who have misled him into being an innocent party to the fraud.

Slander will not take the PURITY and DELIGHTFULNESS out of CAMELS. It may, for a little while, hurt their sale among those who are easily deceived. But PURE TOBACCOS, scientifically blended, will continue to make CAMELS the most popular and desirable cigarette on the market, regardless of price. The man who smokes them knows. To him there is no substitute, and no other brand can be long substituted for CAMELS by slander and misrepresentation.

An honest man will not work for a company that uses dishonest methods to sell its product, but he need not look for a job. Jobs, and good jobs, are looking for honest men. We have no desire to deal with the cheap crook. But we want more evidence on the "men higher up." If any honest man, who has been induced by those higher up to circulate a lie about CAMEL Cigarettes, will, to our satisfaction, establish that fact, we will make it well worth his while, and he will be fully protected.

To you, Mr. Smoker, we say, CAMELS ARE PURE, and you know they are DELIGHTFUL.

The play which is to be given by the young people has been postponed. The date will be given later.

Dr. Charles P. Hutchins performed an operation on Mrs. Leroy Krom the past Wednesday morning. Mrs. Krom is doing nicely. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

The weather for the first few days has been much warmer. Every one is glad to welcome the change.

To Prevent Thumb-Sucking.

A cardboard cuff around the upper arm will often prevent a child from sucking its thumb, a habit that is liable to cause serious deformity of the mouth, nose and teeth.

A First Consideration.

A teacher who was firmly convinced that a knowledge of the paintings and sculpture of the world was as essential as the "rule of three" had been explaining to her young wards some of the history connected with Rodin's famous statue, "The Thinker." She then asked the children what they thought he was thinking about.

"Oh, I know," replied one little girl. "He's lost his clothes, and he's wondering where he's going to get some more."—Harper's Magazine.

Roughly, says the Kansas City Star, the legitimate drama is where the actors do most of the talking. The movie drama is where the audience does all of the talking.

Wise Bride.

"Now," said the bridegroom to the bride when they returned from their honeymoon trip, "let us have a clear understanding before we settle down to married life. Are you the president or the vice president of the society?"

"I want to be neither president nor vice president," she answered. "I will be content with a subordinate position."

"What position is that, my dear?" "Treasurer."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

In Mexico there grows a tree called the "tree of little hands." It is so called owing to the fact that its five curved branches look like the fingers of a child.

Happé—That man's gone through twenty fortunes or more. Change—Great Scott! He doesn't look like a spendthrift. Happé—He isn't. He's an expert accountant.

TO LIVE IN FACT.

Life is what we are alive to. It is not a length, but breadth. To be alive only to appetite, pleasure, mere luxury or idleness, pride or money making, and not to goodness and kindness, purity and love, history, poetry and music, flowers, God and eternal hopes, is to be all but dead.—Babcock.

Above everything else CERTAIN-TEED stands for quality, efficiency and economy. Any product bearing the name CERTAIN-TEED will deliver all three in heaping measure.

Certain-teed Roofing is the most efficient type of roofing for all kinds of buildings. For the sky-scraper a built up roof of CERTAIN-TEED is now recognized as the ideal roof.

For factories, especially where the roof area is considerable, the light weight, economy and long life of CERTAIN-TEED makes it by far the most desirable type of roof. For garages, out-houses, farm buildings, the economy, ease of laying and long life make CERTAIN-TEED superior to any other. For residences CERTAIN-TEED Slate Surfaced Shingles are artistic, light weight, economical.

CERTAIN-TEED costs less to buy, less to lay, and less per year of life. It is light weight, clean, sanitary and fire retardant. It will not dry out or rust, and is absolutely weather-tight.

CERTAIN-TEED is made in rolls, plain and slate surfaced; also in slate surfaced shingles. Three thicknesses, but only one quality—the best. Guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply), but will outlive the period of guarantee.

The long life of CERTAIN-TEED is due to its quality and the saturation of a special blend of soft asphalt, kept soft, and prevented from drying out, by a coating of harder asphalt.

If you are building or need a new roof, it will pay you to investigate CERTAIN-TEED before deciding upon any type of roof. For sale by dealers everywhere.

If you paint it will pay you to use CERTAIN-TEED. If you employ a painter, insist for his own good as well as yours, that he use CERTAIN-TEED Paints.

TWO-YEAR-OLD RACERS

Barring of Youngsters Until April 1 Creates Comment.

Arguments Pro and Con Are Advanced and Its Expediency Will Be Tested—Opinion of Judge Nelson of Canada.

The barring of two-year-old racers until April 1 has created quite a lot of comment.

The thoroughbred association made a protest to the Kentucky racing commission, but their protest came too late. The rule was under consideration for many months and no one came forward to offer a word of protest. It remained for Joe Murphy to make the protest, and then he only did so when he found out that it was necessary for two-year-old races at his winter track.

In rapid succession the other winter tracks announced racing for two-year-olds, and races for horses of this age are now being held.

Judge Francis Nelson of Canada believes the rule should have a fair trial, and says so in the following words:

"As the age of a thoroughbred horse is calculated from January 1 in the year in which he is foaled, all of the 1916 yearlings are now ranked as two-year-olds, and the opportunity arrives for racing by those that are not intended to be kept for engagements in the territories governed by the Canadian Racing association, Jockey club and Kentucky racing commission regulations. It is in these regions that the most valuable purses are offered and the best horses seen in action.

"Some owners will undoubtedly accept the penalty of exclusion from these regions for a season for their youngsters, but we may be sure the risk will not be taken with those they think most of. So long as the rule refusing the entry during their two-year-old year of horses that have raced prior to April 1 is on the books it will be pretty generally observed.

"No sound reason could be advanced for the early racing of two-year-olds; in fact, so far as its effect on the animal is concerned, none but a negative reason has ever been offered. Breeders and owners seeking increased prices and early returns for their investments naturally are not pleased with the application of the first practical and presumably effective regulation on the subject. Program makers at winter meetings who would have one event taken away from their material every day, and race-course managers who would find much of their stabling taken up by horses not meant to race till spring, likewise find the regulation irksome, but horsemen are coming to not only accept but to express the view that the measure is entitled to a fair trial, in view of its promise for the general good of breeding."

There is no chance for swamping stunts so long as he has the uniform on, but there is a good, substantial income, which is the appealing factor.

According to the superintendent of the department, Duke Kahanamoku applied for a job and was given a chance. He made good from the start, and his duties consist of inspecting pier cylinders 40 feet under water.

Thackeray In America.

Thackeray's lecture on Swift, some of the manuscript of which has been sold by his daughter for military charities, proved one of his greatest successes in America. James T. Fields, his host at Boston, has told how all the tickets for the Swift lecture were sold the day before it was delivered.

"I remember Thackeray's uproarious shouting and dancing when told this," he adds. "When we rode together to the lecture hall he insisted on thrusting his long legs out of the carriage window, in deference, as he said, to his magnanimous ticket holders. These included Longfellow, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Emerson and other leading literary lights."—London Chronicle.

When Hats Were Taxed.

Queen Elizabeth taxed the masculine blocked beaver hat out of existence, and Pitt's hat tax of 1784 brought a substantial revenue. Stamps were fixed inside the crown of the hat from threepence to 2 shillings, according to its price, while the penalties for selling unstamped hats ranged from £10 to £20, and the punishment for counterfeiting a hat stamp was death. But an attempt to tax women's French straw hats of the Watteau style signally failed. They were smuggled over in large quantities, and before this could be coped with Watteau hats went out of fashion, and the tax was a dead letter.—London Chronicle.

Where Books Were Pawned.

In primitive days books had a recognized and settled value. We know how they were exchanged for a horse or half a dozen sheep, but few people know the extent to which books were pawned in the middle ages. Oxford at one time had twenty giant chests full of these valuable treasures, and the process when stock was taken had to be conducted with care. The book fairs served to alter things, and presently as Smithfield market grew it set up a subservient industry on its outskirts, where the butchers sold skins and the parchment dealers bought. And this bookish street under the shadow of St. Paul's bore the pious name of Pater-noster row.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Man and a Wife.

The primary impulse of all creatures is possession. It is this that causes a chicken to tear around the yard with a piece of meat in its mouth and all the other chickens after it. Of course it cannot possibly eat the meat; it hasn't time. But the instinct of possession makes it grab and keep it. The same is noticeable among beasts. They like to get a great piece of meat in their mouths and then growl.

It is this irrepressible instinct in man which provokes him to marry money. He wants something to guard and to growl over. So he seeks a low tree, a cave or a house and a wife.—Puck.

ADVERTISEMENT WRITING.

UNWISE advertising economy is an acquired habit with many merchants, like olive and moving pictures, but when the habit is broken, it is a relief. They seem to believe that each time they blacken a dollar and lay it away on ice, withdrawing it from their advertising expenditures, they have done wisely. Really, such business men are short-changing themselves. Well written advertisements are business getters. The other kind won't do at all. Let me write you ads, with "per and punch." George M. Zellmer, care of Kingston Freeman.

TAKE NOTICE that the annual meeting of stockholders of the Albany Towing Company will be held at the general office of the company, 22 Ferry street, Kingston, N. Y. March 30, 1917, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of electing directors of the company for the ensuing year and for the transaction of such other business as may be brought before the meeting.

I. O. O. F. RECEPTION TO GRAND MASTER

A reception and banquet in honor of Grand Master Lyman J. Cheney of Salamanca, N. Y., will be given by the Odd Fellows' lodges of this city Tuesday evening.

The reception will take place at the rooms of Kosciuszko Lodge, No. 86, I. O. O. F., at No. 635 Broadway, from six to eight o'clock and many Odd Fellows will avail themselves of the opportunity of meeting Grand Master Cheney and Grand Warden Edgar S. Mosher of Auburn, N. Y., who will accompany him.

The banquet will be served in the rooms of C. S. Clay Lodge, No. 528, I. O. O. F., corner of Wall and John streets, at 8:30 o'clock and will be largely attended. Speaking will follow, the toastmaster being Augustus Shufeldt, district deputy grand master of this district. The speakers will be Grand Master Cheney, Grand Warden Mosher, Judge Jenkins and Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr.

The reception and banquet will witness the largest gathering of Odd Fellows which has taken place in Kingston in a long time. Tickets for the banquet will be fifty cents.

BLUESTONE CO.'S
LAWYERS' FEES

A final hearing was held on Saturday before Referee Dagiel B. Deyo to determine whether a contract entered into in 1908 by the Ulster & Delaware Bluestone Company included the entire services of Brown & Slosson in securing the award for damages from New York city for the company when property was taken for the Ashokan reservoir.

In 1908 the company signed a contract authorizing Brown and Slosson to take care of the interests of the company in the proceedings against New York city. In 1911 an award made amounting to $23,180 and an expense account of $2,750.19 was allowed by the commission. A part of the award was withheld and no effort was made, it is claimed, to recover the remainder of the award by the attorneys and in 1913 the bluestone company moved for a substitution of attorneys and then Brown & Slosson put in a bill for extra expenses for services. This extra amount attorneys for the bluestone company claim cannot be collected because the contract entered into stated that the entire claim against the city was to be collected and as only a part of the award was paid in 1911 they claim that there can be no further charge for collecting the remaining money or for such services.

At the hearing on Saturday before Referee Dagiel B. Deyo, Joseph Murphy appeared with Brown & Slosson and Judge Grant of Stamford with William Riskey for the company.

Sold at Auction.

Alfred D. Van Buren, as receiver in supplementary proceedings, sold the right, title and interest of Arthur C. Baylor in the laundry plant on Wilbur avenue at auction at the court house, at noon today. The property was bid in subject to existing liens, by Baylor's Laundry, Inc., for $150.

Funeral and interment will be private, but friends desiring to view the remains may do so between the hours of 12 m. and 1 p. m. on Tuesday at the late residence, 94 Prince street.

Wood for Lead Pencils.

The eastern red cedar or juniper is becoming so scarce and valuable that the pencil manufacturers are turning to the California incense cedar for a source of their supply. This incense cedar resembles the eastern red cedar more closely than any other wood. It is somewhat lighter in color, however, and a chemical process is being used to stain the wood to resemble eastern red cedar.

MAJOR CHANDLER
HOME THIS MONTH

Major George Chandler has telegraphed his family today that it is now expected Brigadier General Lester's staff, to which he is attached, will leave McAllen for home with the first contingent of New York state troops to be relieved of border service. It is believed that Major Chandler will arrive in Kingston within the next ten days if militia movements are made along the lines indicated from Washington. General Lester's staff will accompany the First Cavalry which is expected to be a part of the first contingent of the New York force to start for home.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Realizing sales in the late forenoon resulted in a good part of the early gains being lost. Room traders were the principal sellers. Steel common declined from 19 1/4 to 19 1/8, Atlantic Gulf and West Indies from 99 1/4 to 97 1/2, and similar reactions after initial gains were recorded in almost everything traded. Around noon there was a renewed demand for some of the principal issues and rallies from the lowest were quickly in order. Money loaning at 2 1/2 per cent.

The tone in the late afternoon was stronger and moderate advances were scored in many of the leading issues. Steel common rose to 19 1/4. Good buying of a number of issues was noted offsetting some realizing profits and making the market overcome the influence of renewed bear efforts by the room traders. New Haven was actively traded in at 38 1/2 to 39. Crucible Steel rose to 67 1/2. Texas Company rose from 22 1/4 to 22 3/4.

WASHINGTON FROM THREE VIEWPOINTS

Career of Father of His Country as Soldier, Citizen and Statesman reviewed by Judge Jenkins, Joseph M. Fowler and Alfred D. Van Buren at First Dutch Church.

Services in commemoration of George Washington were held in the First Dutch Church Sunday evening and attracted a large congregation who listened with close attention to interesting and instructive addresses by Judge James Jenkins, Joseph M. Fowler and Alfred D. Van Buren.

Judge Jenkins spoke on "Washington the Man." He referred to the manner in which Washington gave freely of his services to his country. He was a man of vision but not visionary. The picture Washington saw of the country which he had been called on to lead in its hour of extremity was that of a kingdom with God as its king, having for its motto "In God We Trust," and his own greatness prevented him from seeing himself in the picture. Having completed his work as military leader he had planned to return to the pleasures of private life, but at the call of duty he again responded. Unwilling to become dictator, as proposed, he was willing again to serve his fellow countrymen. Unselfishness such as he displayed could be founded only on the principles of honesty, right and justice inspired by a sincere and deeply rooted belief in God and a conviction that in honoring Him, neither man nor nation could make a mistake.

Joseph M. Fowler spoke on "Washington the Soldier," and referred to the timeliness of observation of his birthday by a nation where conditions required that thoughts on personal matters should be superseded by attention to matters of national importance. He reviewed briefly Washington's early career and military training during the French and Indian wars. This training and preparation made him preeminently fit to become the great military tactician of the Revolution.

Washington never had anticipated at this early date that his country would be called on to take part in a long war, but later when Colonial events began to shape themselves toward active resistance of tyranny he foresaw the coming conflict and advocated preparedness. Our national situation today is somewhat similar to the condition then, and we are unprepared. This condition is serious but it may not be fatal, for where loyalty abounds, the other necessary elements of preparedness will disclose themselves.

Alfred D. Van Buren spoke on "Washington the Statesman." At a time when the most delicate conditions in our national history required for their successful outcome the matured tact of statesmanship, Washington had become the commanding figure who had dominated all the conflicting elements that arise in a new nation. He had brought about the salvation of his country during a long and hard struggle and more than any other man in America knew intimately the needs of the country as a whole in its domestic relations and in its relation with other nations. His carefulness, his sound judgment and his experience had shown his pre-eminence in statecraft, which coupled with his intimate knowledge of men and his vast knowledge of affairs as a student enabled him to judge best the precise steps needed to furnish for the people for whose liberty he had fought a form of government that would be enduring.

At the close of the address, the Rev. Dr. Looper spoke briefly on Washington's visit to Kingston, his reception by the consistory of the First Dutch Church, which, as the leading institution of the community had seen fit to frame an address to him expressive of the high esteem in which every resident had good reason to hold him, and of Washington's reply, which Washington had read to the assembled congregation and then handed to a member of the church. The address is preserved in the vestibule of the church, in a glass-covered frame which has been sunk in the wall of the edifice.

Special music was rendered by the choir of the church under the direction of W. Whiting Freilburg, organist and choirmaster. For the anthem, the choir rendered the hymn "Unto Thee, O God, our Father," and for the offertory Miss Molyneux and the choir rendered Lerman's "There's no Land Like Ours."

A MENTAL MYSTERY

By ALAN HINSDALE

We have become used to an electric sturion sending forth its power across a continent or an ocean without any other medium than the atmosphere, but few of us are prepared to admit that one human brain is capable of affecting another human brain without any other medium than that of the wireless telegraph.

Nevertheless, there are instances of such communication. I believe that there is a mental force not yet explained scientifically that carries these messages, and I am going to give the reason why I have arrived at this conclusion.

I am an artist. From a child I have been absorbed in the beauties of nature and their transmission to another form. As a boy I could make these transformations so successfully that my pictures attracted the attention of my friends. Nothing would do but that I must be educated for an artist.

But there was no means for the purpose. A younger sister of mine had been left a small legacy by her grandmother. My sister—Eleanor was her name—insisted on devoting this money to my education. I declined to accept it at first, but she insisted that I would be a successful artist, my pictures would sell at good prices, and I could repay her. Thus encouraged, I consented and entered an art school.

Unfortunately my education took from me the ability I had shown in freehand drawing. The technique required for work that would pass the critics was obnoxious to me. Nevertheless, I persevered and mastered it. But I never regained the ability I had possessed to hit off something that indicated genius.

I spent several years after being graduated at the art school painting pictures, which were no better than hundreds of other artists could paint. I regretted that I had accepted my sister's loan, for I was scarcely able to make enough money to keep body and soul together, to say nothing of paying what I had borrowed.

One winter I broke down in health and in the spring was told I must have change of scene and air to build up my strength. In my weakened condition my debt to my sister got on my mind, and I could not get it off. Eleanor begged me to stop worrying about it, but without success. I was sent off to the seashore and lodged in a fisherman's cottage.

One morning I was sitting on the porch of the cottage looking out on the ocean. The sun was gilding the blue waves which were rolling in and breaking on the beach. Some fishermen were pulling out their boats, and were flying hither and thither overhead, one occasionally darting down to pounce upon a fish. I was seized with a desire—natural to an artist—to portray this scene.

I had not been permitted to bring my artist's tools with me, so I could not do as I wished. As I sat in my comfortable wicker chair, fanned by a balmy sea breeze, I began to work over an imaginary canvas, laying down on it the view before me. The picture grew in my mind as plainly as if I were really putting it on canvas. I worked without effort—or at least seemed to do so—and was conscious of transferring the scene before me exactly as it was without the loss of any of its subtle beauties.

Nevertheless there must have been a severe mental effort, for as soon as I had finished my imaginary or mental work I lost consciousness and knew nothing till late in the afternoon, when I found myself in bed.

It was some time before I gained sufficient strength to go home. When I returned my sister told me that there was no further necessity for me to worry about my debt to her, for it had been paid. I asked her who had paid it, and she said that I had paid it myself. Further than that she would give me no information until I had fully recovered.

One day after I had got stronger I went, unbeknown to any one, to a room at home that I had used for a studio. There was a desk in it, and, going to this desk without any definite object, I noticed a pigeonhole that had been empty was now full of papers. I took them out and found they were letters that had accumulated during my illness. I opened one and read it. It was from a dealer in pictures asking me if I had any of my work for sale. He had a constant demand for it. Astonished, I opened another and another. They were all requests for my pictures.

While I was thus engaged my sister came in. She seemed much put out that I had come upon the letters. But the explanation must now come out, and she gave it to me.

One morning while I was at the seashore she had come into my studio and, something, she knew not what, had prompted her to sit down before my easel, take my implements and begin to sketch. She had no ability whatever as an artist and was astonished to see a marine view grow on the canvas. Nevertheless, when she had finished she had no idea that she had produced a marvelous picture.

Her production was admired, and, at teaching my name to it, she took it to a dealer, who sold it for $5000. I went to see the painting, and what was my amazement to see that it was the scene I had mentally painted while at the fisherman's cottage. I had painted it with the freehand excellence of my youth, and yet it was a finished picture.

Famous Gretna Green.

Gretna Green is a village of Dumfries, a border county of Scotland and near the border line between Scotland and England. Formerly a common resort of runaway couples from England, the practice was broken up by an act of 1836, which provided that no marriage should be valid in Scotland unless one of the parties had lived in Scotland for the 21 days next preceding the marriage, or had his or her usual residence there at the time.

Thought Some Overlooked.

A party of friends was gathered New Year's day. After the wine had been passed around there were two glasses left on the tray untouched. Just as we were about to drink my brother-in-law said, "Well, folks, here's to happy days." His little daughter, who had been watching the whole performance, pointed to the glasses on the tray and said, "Daddy, whose happy days are these?"—Chicago Tribune.

Some Difference.

When a little friend of mine was three and one-half years old his father asked him what he wanted to be when he grew up. He replied quickly: "A man." "Well," said his father, "what's the difference between a boy and a man?" The little fellow was puzzled for a moment. Finally he said, "Smoke."—Cleveland Leader.

The Licorice Gum

Hello, Kittie. Want a piece of Adams Black Jack Gum?

Oh, thanks, Billy. It's licorice, and I just love it.

Yes, and when you've got a cough or cold it fixes it up in no time. My Ma gets several packages at a time and she says it saves her a lot in doctor's bills and medicines for us children.

The Unlaid Eggs

The grain-fed hen usually carries a number of unlaid eggs—yolks which do not complete into eggs and lay, because her feed lacks the necessary white-forming nutrients. (That's why egg-yolks are found in a hen when it is dressed). Many of these yolks of unfinished eggs are finally absorbed back into the hen's system.

Missouri Experiment Station tests showed that 100 lbs. of wheat, corn, oats, barley and kafir corn make (above bodily maintenance) on average of 224 yolks and only 154 whites. Based on data from the same experiments, Purina formulas produce, (above bodily maintenance) as follows:

Purina Scratch Feed 247.49 yolks 142.11 whites
Purina Chicken Chowder 182.05 " 282.55 "

Combined Ration 429.54 yolks 424.66 whites

These feeds, used in combination, form the most perfectly balanced and economical egg producer you can buy. Purina Chicken Chowder is the egg-completing ration containing exactly the right feed elements to make the necessary whites. That's why we can positively guarantee

OLD LIGHTHOUSE TO HIGH BIDDER

Abandoned Government Structure Offers Many Possibilities For Purchasers—Three Generations of the Murdock Family Have Kept Roundout Light Burning.

Since the completion of the new lighthouse at the mouth of the Roundout creek some time ago the old light on the south side of the dyke has been closed and empty and has caused a great deal of speculation among frequenters of the water front as to what would become of the substantial old stone building. Although the building from shore appears to be small a close inspection shows that it would put many a handsome home in this city to shame. The house is two stories high with a fine cellar and surrounded by the light which alone is large enough to allow several people standing room at one time.

Since the old light has been succeeded by the new beacon on the opposite side of the channel the government will dispose of the old building to the highest bidder. The building and stone pier will be sold but the site will not be included in the sale but will revert to the state from whom it was obtained by the government. The purchaser will be required to remove the building from the site unless permission can be secured from the state to allow it to remain where it is.

Bids must be submitted to the office of the inspector of the Third District at Tompkinsville, Staten Island, before 2 o'clock on the day the bids are opened.

Many a tale could be told of the occurrences which have taken place at the old lighthouse and of the dangers experienced by the keeper of the light. Before the present dyke protecting the light was built the annual break up of the ice in the upper creek was a nerve racking experience for the keeper and the labor required to place the dyke light along the long dyke and at the entrance to the creek in the winter while the ice was forming and while navigation was still open would furnish material for a very interesting book. The present keeper of the new light, James Murdock, has been keeper of the light since his mother's death and before his mother became keeper of the light his father was caretaker and never since the regicide of the Murdock family has the light failed to burn as a warning to the Hudson river craft.

That the light will be left in the Murdock family for years to come seems certain for already the keeper's son is learning the duties which go with the care of one of the United States government lights and the care of the Roundout light will probably be presided over by a member of the Murdock family for years to come.

Accidents at the mouth of the creek to strangers who are not familiar with the channel and who take a chance without consulting a chart are frequent and although Keeper Murdock will not tell of the instances many a life has been saved by his quick work when a stranger drove his boat on the rocks outside the channel while attempting to enter the creek at night without looking at his chart.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, Feb. 19.—There was a meeting of school trustees of the town of Marbletown at the school house on Wednesday afternoon of last week. Miss Nicholson, the supervisor of physical training, was also present. Miss Nicholson will visit the schools of Marbletown and Rochester about once a month to instruct the teachers and inspect their work. The minimum requirement for physical training is twenty minutes a day divided into four periods of at least two minutes each. This training will consist of setting up exercises, personal tidiness marching and physical culture.

There was no school on Monday past as it was Lincoln's birthday.

Miss Alice Krom of Brooklyn and Miss Kathryn Krom of Rahway, N. J., were home for Lincoln's birthday.

Miss Nettie Dym is home on a two week's vacation. Her sister, Mrs. John Dyer, of Elizabeth, N. J., who has been staying with her mother during her recent illness, has gone to her home in the city.

Mrs. Mary Krom and daughter, Miss Miriam Krom, are ill with the grip.

Mrs. James Freer, who has been spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Purvis, of Kingston, returned home the past week.

The weather the first of the past week was very severe. The thermometer registered 20 degrees below zero in some places.

W. L. Krom has the contract to provide the soldiers from Albany who are stationed in the vicinity between shafts 1 and 3 with provisions.

The dance held in St. John's Hall on Wednesday evening was largely attended. There was also a dance on Saturday evening in the hall. The attendance was good. This is the last dance in the hall before the Lenten season.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Reformed Church held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of Mrs. George Holmes.

Miss Belle Van Wageningen called at the home of Miss Mary C. Van Wageningen on Thursday afternoon.

Most of the soldiers from Albany, who have been stationed here and in the nearby vicinity, have been recalled to Albany. There are only four or five left on duty.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold its regular business meeting on the first Thursday afternoon in March. As the officers for the ensuing year are to be elected at this time it is requested that all members be present and vote on these officers.

The Rev. George Danglemond called at the home of Miss Mary C. Van Wageningen on Thursday afternoon. Miss Freida Sahler, who is at Dr. Johnston's Sanitarium, is doing nicely after her operation. Her friends will be glad to welcome her back home again.

There has been a fine ice harvest

REWARD for HONESTY

Purity and Delightfulness Make
CAMEL Cigarettes
The Most Popular and Best Selling
Cigarette Ever Sold at any Price

THIS enviable position has caused false and defamatory statements to be circulated about CAMELS, in order to injure their sale. As our investigation of these reports progresses, it becomes more and more apparent that "men higher up" originated the scheme and have superintended its execution. They were able to slander CAMELS in two ways: By hiring the irresponsible to lie about them, and by, perhaps, fraudulently inducing honest men to circulate the lie. But an honest man is always honest. Once he learns that he has been duped into misrepresentation, he not only stops it, but quits the employment of and exposes those who have misled him into being an innocent party to the fraud.

Slander will not take the PURITY and DELIGHTFULNESS out of CAMELS. It may, for a little while, hurt their sale among those who are easily deceived. But PURE TOBACCOS, scientifically blended, will continue to make CAMELS the most popular and desirable cigarette on the market, regardless of price. The man who smokes them knows. To him there is no substitute, and no other brand can be long substituted for CAMELS by slander and misrepresentation.

An honest man will not work for a company that uses dishonest methods to sell its product, but he need not look for a job. Jobs, and good jobs, are looking for honest men. We have no desire to deal with the cheap crook. But we want more evidence on the "men higher up." If any honest man, who has been induced by those higher up to circulate a lie about CAMEL Cigarettes, will, to our satisfaction, establish that fact, we will make it well worth his while, and he will be fully protected.

To you, Mr. Smoker, we say, CAMELS ARE PURE, and you know they are DELIGHTFUL.

Mrs. Abraham Lefever is staying with Mrs. Agnew.

The play which is to be given by the young people has been postponed. The date will be given later.

Dr. Charles P. Hutchins performed an operation on Mrs. Leroy Krom the past Wednesday morning. Mrs. Krom is doing nicely. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery. The weather for the first few days has been much warmer. Every one is glad to welcome the change.

To Prevent Thumb-Sucking.
A cardboard cuff around the upper arm will often prevent a child from sucking its thumb, a habit that is liable to cause serious deformity of the mouth, nose and teeth.

A First Consideration.

A teacher who was firmly convinced that a knowledge of the palatinate and sculpture of the world was as essential as the "rule of three" had been explaining to her young wards some of the history connected with Rodin's famous statue, "The Thinker." She then asked the children what they thought he was thinking about.

"Oh, I know," replied one little girl. "He's lost his clothes, and he's wondering where he's going to get some more."—Harper's Magazine.

Roughly, says the Kansas City Star, the legitimate drama is where the actors do most of the talking. The movie drama is where the audience does all of the talking.

Wise Bride.

"Now," said the bridegroom to the bride when they returned from their honeymoon trip. "let us have a clear understanding before we settle down to married life. Are you the president or the vice president of the society?"

"I want to be neither president nor vice president," she answered. "I will be content with a subordinate position."

"What position is that, my dear?"

"Treasurer." — St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Happé — That man's gone through twenty fortunes or more. Chappé — Great Scott! He doesn't look like a spendthrift. Happé — He isn't. He's an expert accountant.

TO LIVE IN FACT.

Life is what we are alive to. It is not a length, but breadth. To be alive only to appetite, pleasure, more luxury or idleness, pride or money making, and not to goodness and kindness, purity and love, history, poetry and music, flowers, God and eternal hope, is to be all but dead.—Backus.
